1. Introduction and Background

Following the Welsh Language Act (1993), Welsh language service provision was defined by individually developed Welsh Language Schemes agreed between individual public bodies and the Welsh Language Board. This arrangement has now been superseded by nationally defined Welsh Language Standards, a selection of which the Welsh Language Commissioner can apply to a public (and, in time, some private) bodies.

The framework for the imposition of standards was defined under the Welsh Language (Wales) Measure (2011), with the standards themselves detailed in Welsh Language Standards (No. 1) Regulations 2015. The standards applying to the Commission are defined in a Compliance Notice issued by the Office of the Welsh Language Commissioner in July 2016 with an effective date of July 2017. This notice is the current document governing the Commission's compliance.

This is the Commission's seventh Annual Report since standards became effective and provides an overview of the work carried out in relation to the Welsh Language Standards between 1 April 2023 to 31 March 2024.

2. Overview of 2023 - 24

The focus for 2023 – 24 was to ensure the Commission's continued compliance with the Welsh Language Standards.

During the year, the Commission's Welsh speakers within its workforce has remained at four members of staff, enabling the Commission to continue to provide an effective Welsh Language service to its stakeholders. The Commission has also provided support to staff members who undertook Welsh Language courses through the provision of time off to attend classes as well as funding the cost of the courses.

The Commission has maintained hybrid working arrangements and staff are able to work from home and at the Commission's office premises. These arrangements have not impacted on the Commission's ability to continue to provide a Welsh language service to its stakeholders.

During the year no complaints were raised about the Commission's operation of the standards.

3. Operation of Standards

Service Delivery Standards

In terms of correspondence, all of the procedural letters and e-mails sent out as part of the reviews process have been produced in both Welsh and English and sent out at the same time.
